DRIVING BLINDFOLDED THROUGH CROWDED STREETS.

State, south on State to Jackson, west on Jackson to Clark, and then north on Clark to the entrance of the Grand Pacific Hotel. Leaving Mr. Dean at the reins, the other committee men went to the desk and were given a register full of names. The book was taken out to the carriage, and after some discussion, the committee decided on the name of J. G. Butler, Jr., Youngstown, Ohio, the date being Aug. 25, 1890. Leaving Mr. Loder to guard the register, and see that no one touched it in the meantime, the committee drove back to the point of starting.

During their absence Johnstone passed the cage of a caged tiger. Dr. Butler and Mr. Johnstone were selected to take charge of him in preparation for the drive. They blindfolded him and then placed over his head the velvet cloak. Then Dr. Butler traced on the wall with his finger the route they had driven, indicating the turns made and the number of blocks in each direction. When he concluded the young man clutched his hands and rushed down the stairway two steps at a time to the carriage. He was assisted to the seat beside Mr. Dean, given the lines, and in a moment was guiding the spirited team along Michigan Avenue, while a dozen cars and carriages filled with students of psychological phenomena rattled along behind. When the cloaked driver swung his team west on Adams street, instead of Monroe, it looked as though he had fallen at the very start. It was the only mistake he made. He drove west on Adams one block to Wabash, then south to Jackson, west to State, south to Van Buren, and west to Dearborn. Here he seemed to lose his bearings or realize that a mistake had been made. The drive up to this point had been attended with several difficulties and delays. The streets were filled with vehicles and a crowd of 500 curious people followed the carriage. At the corner of Adams and Dearborn streets the tongue of the carriage ran into the wheel of an express wagon and the consequent stop and extortions probably assisted in deranging the mind of the driver.

POLITICAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

For Governor
JAMES M. TURNER,
of Ingham county.

For Lieutenant-Governor
WILLIAM S. LINTON, of Saginaw county.

For Secretary of State
WASHINGTON GARDNER,
of Calhoun county.

For Treasurer
JOSEPH B. MOORE, of Wayne county.

For Auditor-General
THERON F. GIDDINGS, of Kalamazoo county.

For Com'r. of State Land office
JOHN G. BERRY, of Otsego county.

For Attorney-General
BENJAMIN W. HUSTON, of Tuscola county.

For Superintendent of Pub. Instruction
ORR SCHURTZ, of Eaton county.

For Mem. State Board of Education
OSCAR M. BALLOU, of Allegan county.

For Justice of the Supreme Court,
EDWARD CAHILL,
of Ingham county.

For Representative in Congress,
WATTS S. HUMPHREY, of Cheboygan.

State Senate.

The convention for the nomination of State senator, at Cheboygan Wednesday, was called to order by C. S. Ramsay, chairman of the senatorial committee, who predicted the success of whoever might be nominated by the convention, and the success of the ticket entire.

O. Palmer, of Grayling, was elected chairman, and E. H. Bolton, of Gaylord, Secretary.

The usual committees were appointed, and their reports adopted.

W. H. Bockus, of Kalkaska, presented the name of Hon. William A. French, of Presque Isle, as one who was in every way fitted for the position, and one who would honor the district, when elected. His support came from all parts of the district, and with the utmost enthusiasm, he was nominated by acclamation, and was elected for the ensuing term.

O. Palmer, of Grayling, chairman; S. B. Adis, Cheboygan; Geo. E. Frost, Missaukee; A. E. Palmer, Kalkaska; W. A. Masters, Crawford; Jos. Banks, Otsego.

S. O. Fisher has finally refused the nomination of the congressional convention at Alpena, and will support T. A. Wedlock.

The demand for Saginaw valley salt is larger than at any time since its production began. It is impossible to obtain cars enough to fill the orders.

Binding Twine has been placed on the free list by the Senate. This will enable the farmers to see whether the tariff is really any aid to the "trust" in this article. —Blade.

The republican congressional committee made an exceptionally wise selection for chairman when they selected H. N. Watrous of this city. Mr. Watrous has the public confidence in a large degree and is a prominent and public spirited business man. —Bay City Times.

The Mugwump New York Times laments the lack of brains in the Democratic party, and the Times is "in" the Democratic party about as far as it can get too. A party with neither brains nor conscience is in a bad way, surely, but all the Times wants is brains. —Det. Tribune.

The Mississippi constitutional convention is being run by a pack of rebels and political cutthroats, some of whom ought to have been hung 25 years ago. Their constitutional convention is simply a band of conspirators against the fundamental law of the land. —Detroit Tribune.

Our Democratic contemporaries have been crowing over the alleged Democratic victory in Wyoming, performed the rooster not prematurely. But there is no objection now to their crowing over the genuine Republican victory in Wyoming if they feel like it. —Detroit Tribune.

The anxiety occasioned among the faithful by the nomination of Watts Humphrey, is plainly indicated by their efforts to persuade S. O. Fisher, whom they regard their strongest man, to enter the fight against him. Mr. Fisher says he has no time to devote to congressional duties, but he need not allow that consideration to prevent his being a candidate. —Day City Tribune.

The Mormon vote of Wyoming was thrown solidly for the Democrats, of course. Wherever you find a Mormon you find it Democratic. It is built that way. —Detroit Tribune.

The nomination of T. A. E. Wedlock, by the democracy, for Congress, falls like a wet blanket on the hearts of the faithful. With some fair hope for success, with Fisher, they now acknowledge defeat.

The Republican state ticket contains the names of four veteran soldiers: Washington Gardner, for secretary of state; John G. Berr, for commissioner of state land office; Benjamin W. Huston, for attorney general; Edward Cahill, for justice of the supreme court.

"He asked for bread and they gave him a stone." Super was a candidate for auditor general and received the nomination for secretary of state. When he gets through running against Washington Gardner, he will be like the boy who was kicked by a mule; he won't be so pretty, but he will know more. —Newaygo Republican.

The New Hampshire Democrats demand protection to fully compensate for all difference between the cost of manufacturing in this and foreign countries. Senator Chandler must have imposed this platform on the Democrats of his state to have them endorse the McKinley bill without knowing what they were doing. —Inter Ocean.

It is reported that the worst is over in the strike of dockmen at Southampton, England. But is the worst over? The worst seems to be that those poor fellows want and cannot get 10 cents an hour for day work, and 12 cents an hour for night work at their hard till. Till they can earn more than $5 or $6 a week by their severe labor at 10 hours a day, "the worst" will not be over. —New York World.

It seems that the Tribune was mistaken in saying that no Democratic paper had condemned the recent political outrages in Arkansas. The New York World claims the proud distinction of being a most mighty rare exception. And the best of it all is that the Detroit Free Press, after hotly denying the truth of the reports of those outrages, republishes the printed evidence of the World's condemnation of them. When the Free Press isn't a political knave it can be the other thing about as easy as anything you ever saw. —Detroit Tribune.

to the Mississippi constitution, adopted by the recent convention, by which the great mass of blacks in the state are to be disfranchised, will be submitted to the people for ratification. If that were done and all were permitted to vote the amendments would be defeated; so those who have encouraged the movement are convinced that "ratification by the people is not necessary." When this disfranchisement is accomplished, it will then be in order to reduce proportionately the representation of Mississippi in Congress. —Blade.

Until within a few days the Democratic papers have been calling vigorously for the defeat of Speaker Reed in Maine. They have evidently abandoned all hope of doing so, for they are now arguing that it will be better for their party to have him sent back to the house to continue his career as speaker if the Republicans succeed in keeping control of the house or to lead the minority into evil ways and so help the Democrats in the presidential election two years hence. —Detroit Journal.

The Atlanta Constitution should be called down by its Democratic contemporaries. It is peddling out too much hope and encouragement to the farmers to suit its party. Hear it shout: "This will be a year of jubilee in the South. Never in the history of the country has she been blessed with more abundant crops, and never since the war have the farmers of this section been so nearly free from debt." And we have had protection in this country right along every year since the war. The way protection is ruining the farmers down South is very sad indeed. —Det. Tribune.

The eighth district democrats seem determined to follow their idols, utterly regardless of the consequences. They are now hot foot after Wellington R. Burt to take their nomination for congress. They fail to remember that when Wellington R. ran for governor two years ago he straddled the party platform on the tariff, and lost them whatever chances of election they had as a party. They do not bear in mind that, whereas his tariff views would have been decidedly innocent in the gubernatorial chair at Lansing, they propose to put him into congress, the very place that the democrats shouldn't send men who believe in the maintenance of protective tariffs. The purpose of the democratic party is to minimize the evils of protection. It is not their place to fill congress with protectionists. They can depend on their republican neighbors to attend to that part of the business without helping them. —Det. News.

Wolves infest the vicinity of Wood lake, near West Branch, in such numbers that the berry crop has been left untouched.

The nomination of Charles Ingerson, will start camp soon down the river a few miles from here. He will put in timber for Pack, Woods & Co. He will start to fill his store house here with supplies next week. —Rosecommon News.

The Art Amateur gave as one of its two color supplements for September a double page panel picture of "Climbing Kittens" by the famous English artist, Helene Maguire. Nothing at once so life-like and artistically attractive has probably ever been given gratis with an art magazine. It is to be followed by a companion panel of "Descending Kittens" by the same painter. China painting designs in color form; the other color supplement. In black and white designs there is the usual abundance of patterns for china paintings, wood carvings, brass hammering, needlework and, indeed, all kinds of decorative art work; and the next comprise, besides much admirable criticism about art and artists, invaluable practical articles on House Decoration, Pen Drawing for Illustration, Tapestry Painting, Drawing in Chalk and Charcoal, Miniature Painting, Monogram Designing and art Embroidery. The Answers to Correspondents are crowded with information useful to all art students. Price 25 cents. Montague Marks, Publisher, 23 Union Square, New York.

We were driving on the towline between Maple Forest and Blaine a few days since, unusually hungry when we arrived at G. Vallad's comfortable home, where we exhibited an editor's check by stopping for dinner. A cordial welcome relieved our embarrassment, though we had stumbled onto a family party. Grandpa Buck, 84 years old, pleasant as ever, being present with Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Buck and family. Mr. Bodley and family, including all the babies, all having met for a social dinner. To say we enjoyed it all, is a mild expression, and we were pleased to note the improvements in that part of the county. The farms are being nicely improved, and on Mr. Vallad's and M. E. Strickland's farm are as fine places of clover as one would wish to see. Their corn is ripe, and a good crop, and their potatoes promise abundant yield, and both have excellent gardens. They evidently are not discouraged with the prospects on the plains.

The Delineator. The Delineator for the month of October has been received, and from the number of engravings of the different designs, it must be the best of the year. The most fastidious can find in it a style to suit them, and with the instructions given for making up, can do so without calling on a dressmaker for assistance. The styles for Misses and girls are as complete as for those of a more mature age. A large portion of the magazine is devoted to articles on other subjects in connection with fashions which will be both interesting and entertaining to its many subscribers. Published by the Butterick Publishing Co., New York city. Price $1.00 per year.
